Playwork ways of knowing:
the indivisibility of theory and practice

UNIVERSITY OF GLOUCESTERSHIRE
at Cheltenham and Gloucester

The University of Gloucestershire's 6th annual Professional Development Event for the play and playwork sector

Friday 23 January 2015// 9.30am - 4.30pm (lunch provided)
Oxstalls Campus, University of Gloucestershire, Gloucester, GL2 9HW

We are pleased to announce that Stuart Lester, Senior Lecturer in Play and Playwork at the University of Gloucestershire will be delivering the keynote presentation titled 'Practising playwork knowledge: transgressing the great divide.'

Following along the theme of the day, staff, students and practitioners will be presenting their research findings on the following topics:

- Co-creating Spaces on an Adventure Playground – Playwork team from Hackney Play Association
- The Art of Wellbeing – Play Gloucestershire, Hilary Smith and Nic Matthews
- Building Sites: using loose parts and environmental features to co-create special secret places, dens and unique experiences – Jan Owen
- Leadership and Management practice on an adventure playground – Libby Truscott
- Playwork in a Primary School Playground: changing attitudes and practice – Sandra Roberts

As always, we guarantee a day of new ideas, professional discussion and critical thinking!

Cost: £50 for bookings before 20 Dec; £75 all others; free for current UoG students
Contact us for more information: email hsmith@glos.ac.uk or call 01242 715207